ASTI – MUSEO PALEONTOLOGICO

November 11th – February 4th, 2018

FOSSILI URBANI

The exhibition is born from the curiosity of Francesca Cirilli and from the meeting with the paleontologists of the University of Torino. It is held in Asti after being hosted in the most important natural history museums of Italy. Some important novelties, such as the images from the Photography competition mentioned below, are on display.

URBAN FOSSIL HUNTER

The purpose of this competition is to identify and photograph the objects in the streets, walls, interstices in towns and villages and not only... the sea shells hiding in the ancient palaces and churches of Asti and in its province, as well as coins, tops, tyre tracks and other strange things fossilized in the concrete and asphalt layers.

Info: www.astipaleontologico.it; please send the pictures taken with any device (digital or analogical) by November 26th to astifossiliurbani@gmail.com

Opening times: Mo-Thur 10am-4pm; Sat, Sun and Holidays 10am-1pm / 4pm-6pm
